OEFINGER-REILY

Impressive marriage rites Friday, April 11th, at 6:30 P. M., united Miss Lela Grace Reily, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Reily, and Benjamin George Oefinger, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Oefinger of Hondo. The ceremony was performed in the Hondo Methodist Church with the pastor, Rev.
R. F. Davis officiating. The altar was tanked with ferns and Easter lilies accented with white tapers.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Kathleen Reily, sister of the bride, lighted the candles and Miss Evelyn Barnes sang "Because". She was accompanied by Miss Eloise Koll-man who also played the traditional bridal music for the processional and the recessional. "The Indian Love Call" was softly played during the ceremony.

Miss Jo Reily, sister of the bride, and Mr. Murrel Stiegler were the only attendants.

The bride wore a semi-dress suit of Wallis blue with dusty pink blouse, hat and gloves, and shoes and bag of reptile skin. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Miss Jo Reily's costume was a tan print jersey dress with brown accessories and corsage of dark pink sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a reception for close relatives and friends was held at the home of the bride's parents. Bridal white was featured in all decorations, irises and gladioluses being used in the living room and dining room. The refreshment table was laid with an eyelet linen cloth and centered with a crystal bowl of gladioluses and flame-tipped tapers in crystal candelabra. Miss Kathleen Reily served the bride's cake and Miss Jo Reily presided at the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Oefinger left for a brief bridal trip and are now at home at Odem, Texas. The bride attended Baylor University and Southwest Teachers College, receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree from the latter. For the past year she has been employed in the office of the Build-bridegroom attended Schreiner Insti-

At present, he is Vocational Agricul-

QUIHI NOTES

Now Isreal (Jacob) loved Joseph more than all his children, because he was the son of his old age; and he made him a coat of many colors.
Gen. 37:3.

Isaac is dead and buried; the last chapter in every life. The reputation, the works, the achievements or failures shall follow; the shadow of the dead. Even some of the hidden things creep forth. No eulogy or bias here will control and influence the appraisal over there.

Esau had left home. A wise decision. Brothers, sometimes, are antipodes, opposites in character, taste, view-points and principles. So here. And there were some crackling embers of the past still smoldering.
An adverse wind blowing from somewhere might fan them into flames, with passions and feuds roaring again. Distance often preserves harmony.

Jacob, to all appearances, lives on the old estate, the homestead in Canaan. He, not Esau, is to carry on the history of God's people. The motives of good in the singling out of individuals and nations from a great mass, are rather obscure. Why just Noah, Shem, Jacob, Judah, Moses, the prophets and later the disciples and same family, offering every inducement, when there were many others He might have chosen, often in the ment and all characteristics needed?

Man in his selective moods and methods, goes on his own way, believing still that man is born equal, and every corporal, as Napoleon put it, has a field-marshal's baton in his knapsack; and every American citizen, as our optimists contend, holds the potential pass key to the White House in his pocket, allowing, of course, for "many a slip between cup and lip" and many a miss between mouth and kiss. The "tall, dark and handsome", or "the answer to the maiden's prayer" goes a long way where a choice is considered. Powerful physique, robust health and a large store of resistance and patience might turn the scale elsewhere.
A high mentality, good judgement and sound learning decides now and then; whereas good standing with business, industry, and higher finance, plus the flexibility to adapt oneself with ease to all gentry and tribe, often stands in good stead when the possibilities of candidates for public offices are looked over. The hit or miss method, quite frequently. Now and then a good pick, now and then brambles and cactus for eider-down.

God's ways, along that line, are past finding out. He needs no human advice. But He goes by standards that baffle the best. Samuel, in later history, while scouting for a king and seeing some of the finest types of young men rejected by the Lord, in Jesse's family, must be told, Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart.
The formula still holds good. And in such inspection man is little skilled.
Therefore, often such drastic and fateful mistakes.

Even Jacob made a mistake in his selection. His heart leaned toward Joseph for a good and valid reason, one out of many. And though Joseph had a most remarkable career second to none, becoming the star of the family and the life-saver of them all later on, yet not he, not his lineage, were to perpetuate the Jewish history down to Christ. Joseph monopolizes the father's heart. The ageing father is doting on the lad, who helps shepherding the sheep and listens in occasionally at the jokes and schemes and escapades in moral laxity, perhaps, or an occasional underhand sale of stock for private profit. There is many a young brother on the conscience of an older brother. And the boy becomes tale-bearer at home, maybe guided by a sense of justice, maybe out of sheer tactfulness. For a sign of loving regard and reward, the father procures that coat of many colors. He should have known better. The same trouble had arisen in Isaac's home.

Where Jacob was considered the favorite and went to a world of misery on account of it. There it was the heirloom-question; here the coat becomes the proverbial red rag that en-rages the bull.

There may be preferences in every family, and for solid reasons, but tact should guide the tactics of the heart and hand to guard against obvious partiality and provocative acts. Such is the will of God Who gives sunshine and rain even to the wayward. Disregard that and you will have a terrible storm of heart-aches brewing before long. Jacob suffered it in full fury.

The miseries of the flu are gradually abating and where there were carloads of coughs for a while, there are only sporadic and casual outbreaks. With the balmy days of spring and a few more cloudless skies, we hope the siege of that treacherous disease is positively gone.
A few had other ailments. Among them Mr. Otto Grell and Mr. C. H.
Fuos. We are glad to hear that they have practically recovered.

A pleasant trip to the mountains where we enjoyed the hospitality of the Albert Eckhart family again, added to our spring joy and confirmed our impression that the splendor of blooming vegetation is greater then we have ever witnessed before.

Good Friday and Easter Day, in spite of threatening weather, swelled the worshipping audience in our little church in a happy increase. May there have been a blessing for every one. Also the League program was taken in by a goody number. And the numbers on the line-up had a real Easter tinge for ear and heart.
We give the numbers for the May assignment: Select readings, Henry Buss Jr., Mrs. John G. Bohlen, Elton Jay Hartman; vocal selections, Mrs.
Herbert Brucks, Mr. Oscar Grell, Mrs. Elmer Nietenhoefer; instrumental contribution, Mrs. Clarence Bohlen.

Announcements: For April 20, Sunday school and Bible classes at 9:30; German service at 10:30. No evening service. On Sunday, April 27, there will be no services, due to our synodical convention at Brenham for which you are cordially invited. The distance is not too great, and it would do you good to get in contact with other congregations and a large synodical program of the American Lutheran Church.

LACOSTE WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Miss Mary Zinsmeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zinsmeyer of LaCoste and Marvin E. Haegelin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Haegelin of Rio Medina, were married Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock in the morning at St.
Mary's Church, with Rev. Joseph Schweller officiating at the ceremony and Nuptial High Mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown charming in its simplicity, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and having long sleeves, the fitted bodice was fastened down the back with covered buttons. The skirt fell in folds into a graceful fan-shaped train. Her veil of bridal illusion was caught to a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms from which fell tiers of illusion with lace and satin inserts to the hemline of the long train. She wore a shoulder length veil of illusion over her face and her necklace was a gift of the bridegroom, adorned with She carried a white prayer book, a gift of the bridegroom, adorned with white gardenias with Queen Ann lace tied in white satin ribbon showers.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Clarissa Zinsmeyer, maid of honor, Mrs. Howard Zimmerman, sister of the bridegroom, matron of honor, and little Miss Elvira Zins-meyer sister of the bride, flower girl.
The matron, maid of honor and flower girl wore Periwinkle blue silk net gowns and their head-dresses were yellow daisies. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow irises with blue males. The flower girl carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and blue spring flowers.

Paul Donahoe of San Antonio was

Mrs. Julius Ahr at the Organ.

After the ceremony a reception parents.

When the couple left on their wed-blue redingote with print frock and accessories were of black.

The bride was graduated from St.
Louis High School of Castroville.

Central Catholic and attended Draughon's Business College in San Antonio.

is engaged in ranching.

A HONDO GIRL AT NORDHEIM

In a write-up of a regular meeting of the Nordheim Garden Club the Nordheim View made the following mention of the part of a Hondo girl in the program:

An interesting discussion on flower arrangement in regard to color harmony, relation of material to receptacle, point of interest and distinction was led by Miss Lucy Justine Davis. This supplemented by actual demonstration of flower arrangements was delightfully enjoyed. Miss Davis also illustrated the kinds of corsages, when and how to wear them and how to make them.

Editorially the paper paid her the following compliment:

Miss Lucy Justine Davis, widely acclaimed for her efficiency as Home Economic teacher in the local High School, has shown her aptitude for another very popular accomplishment, the knowledge and talent for Flower Arrangement, according to all who attended the last meeting of the Garden Club. We hear so much about the clever demonstration Miss Davis gave that we feel we have missed a real treat.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

It don't mean that you are some kind of undesirable citizen because you take a look under the blankets, now and then, to see what is going on in politics.
It is more liable to be vice versa
if you do not take a look.

You will come closer to being a U. S. A. patriot, and of some use to your country, if you do some prying into what is going on versus being just a fellower having no idea which end of the horn or where you are coming out—after the emergency.

I got in mind this idea of Uncle Sambo getting deeper into more business, like there on the St. Lawrence which is being taken up, as a defense idea.

Socialism is not going to march up to the front door and knock—it is gonna sneak around back. This country would shoot Socialism full of holes, and the buttons off its vest, in 2 shakes, if it recognized it coming up the front walk. But if it slides up under blankets—and we do not get curious—we will wake up needing a quart of headache pills.

Yours with the low down,
JOE SERRA

THE AMERICAN DESTINY

The world knows what appeasement and vacillation mean to a nation confronted by an aggressive and ruthless enemy. It leads to one certain goal—disaster. The once proud nations which have bowed their heads in defeat, are grim proof of this. Today's dictators give no quarter. They are after but one thing—total victory. The nation which gives a little, eventually gives all.

What is true in international affairs, is true in domestic affairs.
And that is a truth that must be brought squarely home to the nation's leaders in both industry and government. There are those in high places who argue that our basic freedoms cannot be wholly maintained in a changing world. They say the private enterprise system cannot be kept intact. They would, in short, appease and attempt to conciliate with forces which are as dangerous to our existence as a free people, as any potential military aggressor.

We see this in governmental inroads into the field of business.
When government goes into business, the private enterprise system—which is the democratic system—becomes a little weaker. It loses a little ground. The political bureaus grow in number and power and extent. The hand of government is felt in more homes. And government gradually grows great beyond necessity, and the traditional democratic balance is slowly lost.

There are two types of offenders against the American way of life.
First, there are those men in government whose deal goal, though they may not admit it, is to establish some form of socialistic totalitarianism here. They would use the world crisis to gain there ends. In the name of national defense, they would appropriate basic industries which are vital to our survival as a free people.

Second, there are men high in industry, whose instinct is to make deals—in short, to appease, to compromise with socialism. They seem afraid to fight for the principals of individualism that are at stake. They see temporary personal gain by going part way along the road to total-itarianism. They forget that, in all the history of the world, no nation has long endured which has attempted two diametrically opposed principles of life and living. Lincoln said no nation can exist half slave and half free. By the same token, no nation can exist half socialist and half free.

The President has lately talked of our fundamental rights which must not be sacrificed. Those rights inevitably involve the right to own property, to go into any legitimate business, to be free from political persecution and government competition with private endeavor, to live in a land where the government exists for the people, not the people for the government.

The man who does not fight for those eternal principals for which this country stands, has no place in this country. We now have the opportunity to prove to all the world that a free people, working in a free economy, can outmatch the dictators and their slave peoples in any contest of any kind. That is the American destiny.—Industrial News Review.

MISS MARY ZINSMEYER IS HONOREE AT SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Mary Zinsmeyer of LaCoste, a bride of this month, was held in St. Louis Parish Hall in Castroville Sunday afternoon, April 6, from three o'clock until five.

After the guests had assembled the bride-to-be made her appearance on the stage bedecked with blue bonnets and pink baby's breath and Miss Esther Rosenbach played the wedding march. After the piano selection Miss Zinsmeyer took the many lovely gifts from a huge Easter basket and unwrapped them. When she had thanked her friends for their remembrances, and the guests had viewed the gifts, the hostesses served refreshments of ham sandwiches, potato chips, dark cake and iced tea. The Easter motif was carried out in the plates, napkins, and plate favors, which were candy eggs and tiny Easter rabbits.

The honoree was lovely in a tan print-and-plain combination suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of spring blossoms in pastel shades.

Approximately ninety guests registered in the lovely bride's book which was presided over by Mrs. Howard Zimmerman.

GOOD MORNING!

You may sing about Your violets sweet,
The fragrance of the rose,
Or the rare scents wafted
From the Spice Isles;
But there's another perfume
That to me makes life complete And wrinkles up my morning face
With smiles—
An aromatic vapor
That titillates my nose,
Making this vale of tears Seem quite worth while—Far finer than the incense
That in olden days arose
From temple altars
Bordering the Nile.

It permeates the Ambient air—
I sniff it with delight
And feel that I am ready For the fray;
To do the job awaiting me
And life's big burdens bear,
To carry on right valiantly
All day.
Toward the lower regions Quickly I take my flight—
The ambrosial odor deepens as I go—Yes, the morning coffee's ready And I'm sure that all is right—No better world there could be,
That I know.

NOTICE TO PEANUT FARMERS

Medina county peanut farmers will vote on Saturday, April 26, in a referendum to determine whether they will market their 1941 crop under marketing quotas, according to V. P. King, Chairman of the county AAA committee for peanuts.

Secretary of Agriculture, Claud R. Wickard, proclaimed Marketing quotas for peanuts this week after Congress had provided for such action in a recent amendment to the Agriculture Adjustment Act of 1938. If approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting in the county referendum, quotas will be in effect for three years.

The national marketing quota is the amount of peanuts which will be harvested from the national acreage allotment, set by law at 1,610,000 acres. This is the same as the 1940 peanut allotment under the agricultural conservation program, which will be continued in 1941. Under the quota, a farmer who plants within his peanut acreage allotment may market all he produces without penalty. Peanuts marketed in excess of the farm marketing quota are subject to a penalty of three cents per pound. However, payment of the penalty is not required if the excess peanuts are delivered to an agency designated for handling excess peanuts.

In this case the farmer receives for his excess peanuts the price for oil which usually is considerably lower than the market price for edible peanuts.

Only those peanuts which are picked and threshed by mechanical means are subject to marketing quotas. This means that peanuts bagged off or dug for hay do not come under quotas. Also, quotas do not apply to farms on which the measured peanut acreage is one acre or less.

The Act requires that if quotas are not approved in the referendum, no peanut loan or diversion program can be offered on the 1941 crop. If quotas are approved in the referendum, farmers are assured of a loan or diversion program, or both, as a means of protecting peanut prices. The loan rate would be between 50 and 75 per-cent of parity.

A preliminary report gives the 1940 peanut acreage picked and threshed by mechanical means as 1,907,000 acres, from which the production was 1,611,634,000 pounds. In 1935 this acreage was 1,473,000 and the production was 1,147,225,000 pounds.

More than twice as much Texas milk and cream is going into the manufacture of ice cream today as there was five years ago. Production of this delicacy in January, 1941, totaled 512,000 gallons, as compared with about 250,000 gallons in January, 1937. Ice cream production for January showed a 57.5 per cent gain over January a year ago, and a 12.7 per cent gain over December. Other dairy products revealed mixed tendencies, creamery butter production remaining about the same as in January a year ago but dropping 9.6 per cent from December, and American cheese manufacture gaining 2.1 per cent over December but declining 6.5 per cent from January, 1940. Production of butter was estimated at 2,508,000 pounds, cheese production at 864,000 pounds.

More than 425 applications were received for shelterbelts to be planted in Northwest Texas, beginning in January. W. E. Webb, state director of the Prairie States Forestry project, says that many of these applicants are "repeaters". Applications are being received by all county agricultural agents of the A. and M. College Extension Service in the shelterbelt area as well as by Forest Service officials located in most county seats.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

Mail reaching U. S. Senators and Congressmen in Washington indicates that many people are slow to realize what this nation faces in coming months.

Perhaps naturally, constituents who write in from the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts and some Gulf States are pretty well aware of the dangers involved in being an "arsenal of democracy." But many inland states reflect belief that the job can be done in an off-hand manner.

What general policy the United States adopts is, in the minds of most legislators, no longer a question. That, they say, has been decided in the British aid bill and other legislation. The only issue, as a great majority of the solons see it, is how the nation carries out its declared policy.

Some legislators and military experts see a "shooting war" only a few months away. But virtually none believes that the whole nation is aware of the troubles ahead.

Voters who write in usually fall into several well-defined groups: Those who want to see Hitler defeated at any cost, those who still think the war is none of our business, those who say we should preserve "social gains" even if it means becoming a German province, and those who insist we must set up a totalitarian form of government matching Hitler's.

Of course, as most solons see it, there is a middle way. But the majority are worried by fear lest this country, in supplying resistance to a dictatorship, destroy the very thing it is seeking to preserve.

What it gets around to is this: The "planners" are still in Washington. The general tendency of congress recently has been to avoid experiments and theories. So the planners have changed tactics. Instead of advocating their proposals for the "general welfare" they now urge them as "defense" necessities.

—WSS—

That tendency worries the legislators, particularly those who think that instead of trying new things we should make workable those laws already on the statute books. Another thing which concerns them is belief expressed by some constituents that the job of building and maintaining defense is easy.

To counteract that belief, new facts slowly are being made public, to show that tanks and planes and guns can't be built overnight and by a few men.

For instance, it took 15 months to build one plant, install the proper machines, train the workers, and turn out a million shells. It will take only 60 days for the next million.

Another example is this: A huge, five-ton multiple spindle bar machine would have to work constantly two and a half days to turn out enough bullet cores to keep one machine gun firing for a single hour.

Already, the nation's plants are humming at top speed. Contracts have been placed with them for about $13 billion worth of defense goods. But not including what will develop later this year or in years to follow, Congress has approved or is in the process of voting more than $42 billion—nearly three and a half times as much.

The job grows bigger daily. Most patriotic legislators hope it won't be interfered with by the demands for maintenance of "social" gains no matter what the cost.

The current Congressional fear is put this way by Rep. Summers of Texas, who is regarded by his colleagues as one of the soundest legislators in Washington:

"We're repeating the mistakes of France. I warn you, the boys in uniform won't knock off at 5 o'clock. They'll stand the night watches."

THE WHIPPOORWILL

In the evening when man's work is done
And it's time for all to rest;
When children say their prayers each one And the sun sinks in the west,
'Tis then when everything is still There echoes clearly o'er the hill
The mournful song of the whippoorwill.

Then as we listen with surprise
To his sad and mournful song,
It brings the tears into our eyes
As the echoes drift along.
Then plainly two of them we hear
And more distinct and ever clear Their blended notes grow more dear.

His song is a tonic for our soul
As sent from the One above,
It helps to make us clean and whole Contributing to our love.
Were there no birds to sing each day
And cheer us weary on our way Oh what a dreary place to stay.

—C. H. KELLEY.

IN THE LEGISLATURE . . .

by Rep. Magus F. Smith

(This is one of a series of articles to be written by Mr. Smith for the papers of Southwest Texas every week to inform you of what is happening in the 47th Legislature of the State of Texas. Any opinions herein expressed are his own and not necessarily those of this paper.—M. E.)

Governor Asked to Resign

The House, with the exception of one dissentive vote, asked Governor W. Lee O'Daniel to resign as Governor so that the Lieutenant-Governor could appoint him United States Senator to take the place of Honorable Morris Sheppard, who died last week.

The Governor, on Monday morning, April 14, sent the House a reply to such resolution, saying that he did not care to be appointed, as he did not think it would subscribe to the idea of Democracy in this particular case. If he is sent to the United States Senate, he wants to be sent there by a vote of the people.

He went on to further state that what the Legislature did in regard to fulfilling his campaign promises would have a considerable bearing on whether or not he offered himself as a candidate for that position.

Truck License Bill

After the Legislature increased the load limit for trucks to 38,000 pounds it became necessary to amend the law in order that trucks carrying more than 7,000 pounds could be licensed. Consequently, on Thursday, April 10, the House and Senate adopted the Conference Committee report on H. B. 43. The Bill, as finally passed, provides the following:

"Sec. 6. The annual license fee for the registration of a commercial motor vehicle or truck-tractor shall be based upon the gross weight and tire equipment of the vehicle as follows:

Gross Weight in Pounds	Fee per 100 Pounds or fraction thereof	Pneumatic Tires	Solid Tires
1-6,000	$0.40	$0.50
6,001-8,000	.45	.60
8,001-10,000	.55	.70
10,001-17,000	.65	.80
17,001-24,000	.70	.90
24,001-31,000	.80	1.00
31,001-and up	.90	1.20

"Sec. 8. The annual license fee for the registration of trailer or semi-trailer shall be based upon the gross weight and the tire equipment of the trailer or semi-trailer, as follows:

Gross Weight in Pounds	Fee per 100 pounds or fraction thereof	Pneumatic Tires	Solid Tires
1-6,000	$0.30	$0.40
6,001-8,000	.40	.50
8,001-10,000	.50	.60
10,001-17,000	.60	.80
17,001-and up	.65	.90

Under this Act it will be possible for truck owners to register the truck-trailer and tractor separately, thus getting a lower rate on the amount of weight they can carry. By doing this, 65c on pneumatic tires will probably be about the maximum weight that will be charged, and under this they will be able to register up to 38,000 pounds gross weight for about $275.00. This is about double the fees the counties are now getting for license fees on trucks carrying that weight.

The Bill also provides that the Texas Highway Engineers will be authorized to make reciprocal agreements with other states, exempting their trucks from having to pay a license in their states. At present, some of the states are putting exorbitant license fees on Texas trucks when they go into those states. This gives the State Highway Engineers authority to bargain with those states, thus helping our trucks out.

Anti-Strike Bill

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has sent a copy of the anti-strike bill, which the Texas Legislature passed, to the governors of every other state in the Union. It is hoped that other states will follow the example of Texas and pass similar legislation to curb strikes in National Defense Projects.

RANCH HOUSE

Have you seen a ranch house set adequately back Where the whispering poplars clustered in a grove Nudge each other carelessly as you canter by?

Have you? Then I warrant, be it but a shack Or a manse palatial with roof lifting high,
You have felt a longing just to dwell hard by.

If not, ride the ranges with a spotted cayuse,
Turn your footsteps eager to the far-away,
You will come upon it just as in a story
All ablaze with glowing sunsets, tethered loose
Or with sprays of morning turning eyes astray Gaily you will revel in its pleasing glory.

—HENRY E. BAKER.

SPRING AND FALL

When the summer is packing her treasures to go And winter's soon due for a call,
She chills at the prospects of bare trees and snow—
Then she goes on her way—with a FALL!
But, whenever old winter decides to depart,
He sometimes will tarry and cling With icy fingers to chill the sad heart, Then he goes on HIS way—with a SPRING!

—MARY LARKIN COOK.

DAILY LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

San Antonio, April 14:—Hogs, Estimated salable and total receipts 800. The week's initial session in the hog division found prices mainly 15c higher than Friday. A top of $8.25 took most good and choice 180-270 pound butchers while comparable grade 160-180 pounds cleared at $7.90-8.50. Good sows changed hands at $7.25-7.50. Limited supplies feeder pigs found demands rather broad and 25-50c higher. Scattered lots developed at $6.75-7.00.

CATTLE: Estimated salable receipts 1,000, total 1,120; CALVES, salable receipts 2,000 total 2,010. Rather liberal supplies cattle and calves for the Monday session produced a slow trade for steers and yearlings. Compared with late last week sales developed on a weak to 25c lower basis with medium grade yearlings and calf weight yearling consignments showing the loss. Various deals revealed good yearlings and lightweight steers at $9.25-9.65. Nothing strictly good was offered but considered quotable above $10.00. Around two truck loads mature 1147 pound steers that had been caked on grass reached $9.50. Most medium grade yearlings cashed at $8.35-9.50.

Slowness characterized cow trade with most deals steady to weak. Common to good slaughter offerings realized $5.25-7.25 while canners and cutters brought $3.75-5.25. Sausage bulls remained about steady at $6.25-7.25, few to $7.50. Killing calves 400 pounds down indicated little price change from last week as medium to just good cleared $9.25-10.00, and common to medium around $7.00-9.25. Culls sold at $6.00-6.50. Vealer calves sold to $11.00.

Stockers and feeders were listed about on a steady basis with last week's close. Good and choice stock calves developed at $10.50-13.00 with medium selections at $8.50-9.50. Good and choice heifer calves secured $10.00-11.00.

SHEEP: Estimated salable and total receipts 800. Limited sales in the sheep division found trading about steady. Good shorn lambs were considered salable around $7.50 or above. Medium and good shorn aged wethers were quotable around $4.25-5.00. A load shorn slaughter ewes made $3.50-4.00. Clipped Angora goats were quotable around $3.00-3.75.

REFLECTION

In the evening, when I look at the beautiful sky
And watch the airplanes fly on high,
I think of that land where foe fights foe man to man,
Of the bursting bombs that turn the sky red,
Of the earth that is drenched with the blood of the dead,
Of the babes that are torn from their mother's arms,
Of the terror that reigns from the air raid alarms.

Of the hospital that's bombed and the helpless sick
Are buried 'neath the stones and brick,
Of the homes that are wrecked, of the families severed,
Of the children scattered to the high winds of heaven!
Oh, how thankful we ought to be
That we have peace, that we are free!
And from my heart goes up a prayer
That God will keep us in His sheltering care
And that we will never take part in the conflict there.

My heart aches for the poor and oppressed
That know not peace, sleep or rest, Whose burdens seem more than they can bear.
My sympathy with them I share.
And I ask God to please put an end to All the wars over there.

THIS IS THE OLD FARM, BOYS

Yes, . . . this is the old farm, boys;
The one . . . I called my own.
But now, . . . I'm movin' away, boys, Cause I couldn't pay the loan.

You ask me, where I'm a-goin'?
Well, the Lord can only tell.
It won't take long, to pack, . . . boys, There's nothin' left to sell.

My folks were good when they were here,
But they, . . . have had to go;
Exceptin' John, the wayward son,
An' he . . . will never . . . know.

I got the loan, to save that boy,
An' pay the money, . . . back.
The cards, were stacked agin' me, boys;
They had 'em in the pack.

I'm told, . . . he's doin' time for that,
Behind, . . . the big gray walls.
They sure must have him stowed away;
Because: he never . . . calls.

You say you have a telegram!
Brought out, from in the town.
You say! it's from that boy o' mine?
An' he, . . . is comin' down.

Somehow, . . . I can't be seein' good, There's somethin' in my eyes.
Sometimes, I doubt most everything?
They've told so many, lies.

You say it's good, . . . an' John's all right!
He's paid that money, . . . back;
An' plenty cash to pay my loan?
You have it! in that sack . . .

Now boys, . . . I know the Lord's all right!
He takes care . . . of his own:
An' boys, . . . I'm stayin' on the farm.
Cause John, . . . has paid the loan.

BEAUTIFUL VALLEY

When first I passed thru this valley, White dogwood and pink tamarack Flung out their garlands of glory;
Late summer when I came back, Wild lilac and syringa bloom was there Crowding Indian-arrow sprays Over carpets of gold and green,
Upon the hills by the highways.

Hens Need Plenty of Feed to Keep Up Egg Production

75% of Feed Goes for Body Upkeep, 25% for Eggs

Gray Summit, Mo.—A hen can "get by" on a mighty little feed. Nature did not plan for a hen to consume great quantities of feed. But nature's original plan for egg production was only 15 to 20 eggs per year.

The weight of the eggs laid in a year in nature's plan was never more than four pounds, and usually no more than two pounds. Today we ask a four or five-pound hen to produce from fifteen to thirty pounds of eggs a year. The difference in egg production obviously must come from a difference in quantity of feed eaten. A hen can't lay many eggs on a skimpy ration.

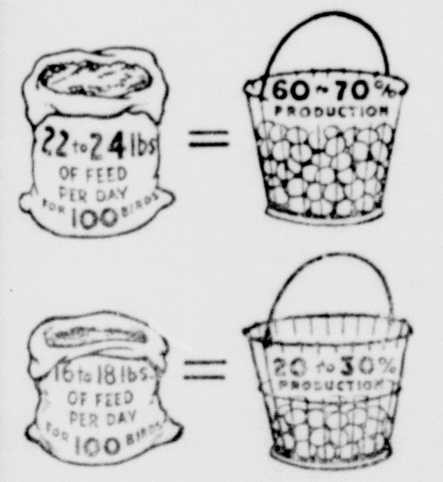

75% for Body Upkeep

Seventy-five percent of all the feed a hen eats is used to take care of her own body needs. "What's left over goes into making eggs. Birds that get only small amounts of feed, or birds that are fed incomplete and unbalanced rations do not get the extra 25 percent they need for keeping up egg production, and consequently some of the feed they do eat is wasted. The poultryman's problem is to see that each hen gets the extra 25 percent feed in properly balanced form so she can pay her complete body bill by putting an egg in the nest.

Production tests at the Purina Experimental Farm show that a few extra pounds of feed per day to each hundred laying birds may easily mean the difference between 30 percent production and 60 to 70 percent production—the difference between profit and loss.

More Feed; More Eggs

Sixteen to eighteen pounds of feed for 100 hens per day may be enough for hens to "get by" on, but they can't make eggs on it. When consumption of feed is stepped up to 22 or 24 pounds per day, production rises rapidly, especially in the fall and winter months when production does not come without conscious effort. Birds that have high egg production possibilities breed into them can respond and give a creditable return on their breeding only when they get enough of the right kind of feed.

The poultryman's job is to "feed the eggs out of the birds." "Feeding eggs out of birds" involves the double job of feeding a properly compounded mash, and of getting a sufficient amount of feed into them.

Step Up Feed Intake

One of the most common and successful methods of stepping up feed intake in the fall and early winter is by extending daylight through use of lights. Practices in the use of lights varies, though the most common practice is to turn them on at four or five o'clock in the morning and allow them to burn until daylight. Some poultrymen use lights both morning and evening, and a few good poultrymen like the practice of keeping a dim light burning all night.

Fresh feed in the hoppers once each day will also interest birds in eating more feed. Sometimes just stirring the mash in the hoppers every hour or two will make the birds want to eat.

Another way to get extra feed into birds is by feeding moistened mash. Moist mash feeding, however, has its disadvantages since it involves extra labor in mixing a wet mash. Extra feeding troughs are required, and another sanitation handicap is added.

Checkers High in Food Value

Recent advancements in poultry management have made possible all the advantages of "wet mash" feeding without any of the disadvantages. This feeding method developed at the Purina Experimental Farm calls for a room feeding of three to four quarts to the hundred birds, of a compressed, complete, balanced feed called Laxona checkers. At first, just a few Laxona checkers are fed each day, scattering them right on top of the mash in the hoppers. Then, as the birds begin to learn what they are, the amount is increased. Hens get more food value from this compressed feed thereby increasing their feed intake. In severe weather a light feeding of checkers in the morning will help hold up production.

"Many a cow doesn't give half the milk she's capable of giving," says W. R. Arends, dairy expert of the Purina Mills. He points out that it takes a certain amount of feed to keep a cow living, and by nature she will use feed first to live on. What's left goes for milk. This brings out the importance of giving the cow not only plenty of feed but a variety of feed to do her best job of milk-making. It's the feed that is turned into milk that counts most of all to the dairyman, according to Arends.

EVEN SONG IN THE VALLEY

How sweet the valley lay!
The scent of fresh cut hay

Was everywhere . . .
Dusk came unawares.

Beside the country road
A thread of silver showed,

And there, until the dark,
We heard the meadow lark . . .

Over and over again
The blackbird soothed his pain.

In distant, shadowy bogs, Chorused the friendly frogs.

The evening air grew lush
With breath of reed and rush—

Until the dark,
We heard the lark.

TREES AND MEN

Behold a mighty oak,
Deep-rooted in the sod, Behold a man steadfast
With a firm faith in God.

Behold a graceful palm,
That of strong roots lacks need,
Behold a thoughtless man
That gives to truth no heed.

Behold a raging storm,
The oak so staunch and tall,
Stands, but the gray palmtree Does totter to its fall.

Comes stress of life's conflict,
As it must come to all,
Erect the good man stands,
The faithless man does fall.

Cenizo, a south Texas native shrub, is not a member of the sage family, although sometimes it has been erroneously called purple sage. Its botanical identification is leucophyllum texanum, or leucophyllum frutescens. Sadie Hatfield, Extension Service specialist in landscape gardening at Texas A. and M. College, says it has no sage-like odor, and its lavender blossoms more closely resemble snapdragons and pentstemon blooms than sage. Early Spanish settlers gave it the name of ceniza, the Spanish equivalent for ashes, because the gray-green color of the leaves suggest that ashes had been dusted upon them. Ceniza, Miss Hatfield says, is the logical name for the shrub, yet current dictionaries have altered the spelling to cenizo. "How it came to be confused with purple sage is a mystery," she adds, "because it is neither purple nor a sage."

Stress Good Nutrition As Defense Need

Today nutrition authorities are stressing the need for guarding the national health in carrying on an effective program of defense. In calling attention to the importance of proper food, it is pointed out that a survey has revealed that approximately 45 million of our population are living below the "safety line" of what is considered an adequate diet.

What factors are essential in our foods to assure that the diet fully meets body needs? Protein is necessary to build and repair body tissue. There must be vitamins to promote growth and protect health, and calories to supply heat and energy. Minerals, such as iron, copper, phosphorus and calcium, are needed to build blood, bones and teeth.

Importance of Iron

In considering the minerals needed, medical authorities point to the special importance of iron as a blood builder. It ranks first among the nutritive elements in this respect.

The iron in the body of an average adult is only about the weight of a penny, but this element is vital to health. Iron enters into the structure of every active body cell. Iron is a constituent of the hemoglobin or red pigment of the 25 trillion or more red blood corpuscles, and thus helps to carry oxygen to every part of the body.

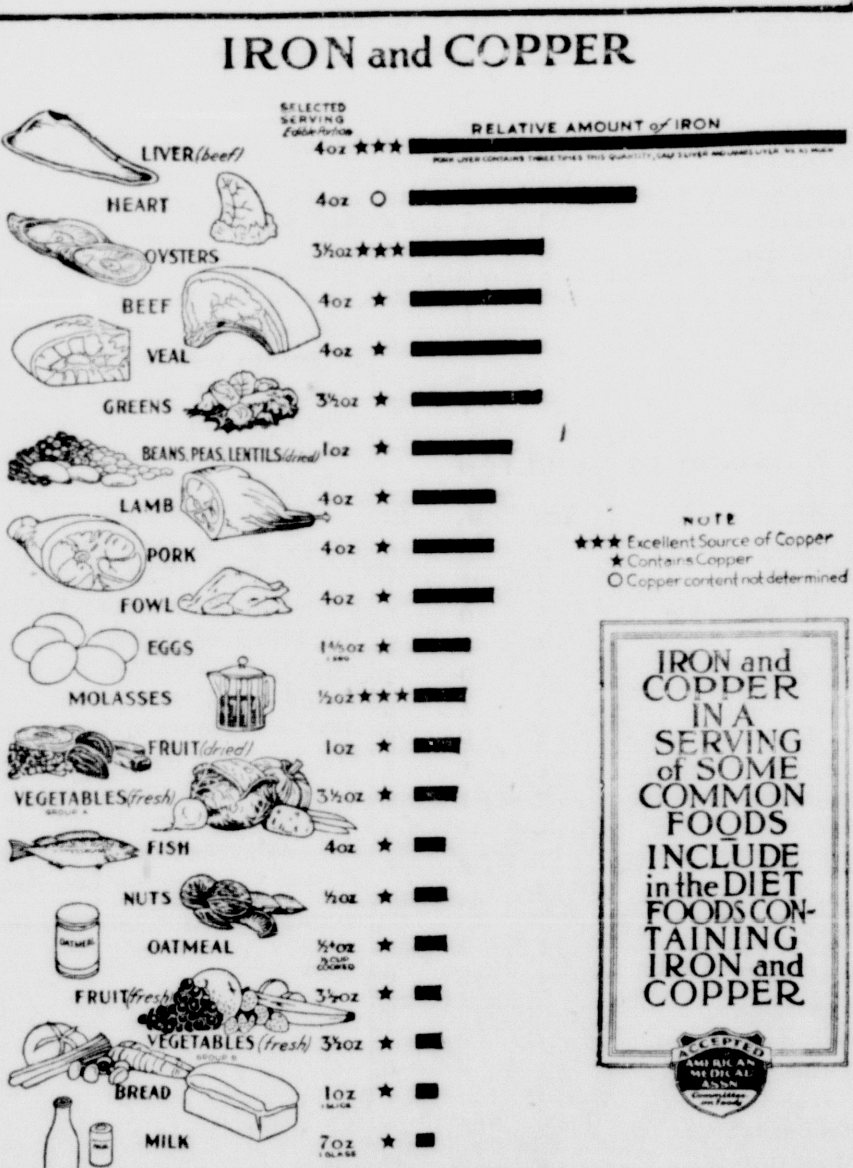

Foods rich in iron must be added to the diet at six months or earlier and continued throughout life, according to nutrition authorities. The adult requires at least 12 milligrams of iron daily.

Iron Prevents Anemia

The penalty for an insufficient iron supply is a condition known as nutritional anemia, characterized by fatigue, digestive disorders and other symptoms.

As early as 400 to 500 B.C., a condition corresponding to anemia as described by Hippocrates, the Father of Medicine. Menghini, an Italian, is given credit as the first to discover iron in the blood—in 1747. The present view that an iron deficiency is the principal cause of anemia, was first advanced in 1889. In 1849, a serious form of anemia, known as pernicious anemia, was described. In the year 1934, Drs. Minot, Murphy and Whipple were awarded the Nobel prize in medicine for their discovery that liver was effective in the treatment of pernicious anemia which was previously regarded as a fatal disease.

Sources of Iron

The accompanying chart carrying the seal of acceptance of the Committee on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association, presents the most up-to-date information on the iron and copper content of our common foods. The iron of foods is better utilized in the presence of small amounts of copper. Liver, which heads the list, is recognized as pre-eminent among blood-building foods. An average adult would be assured an adequate daily supply of iron if the following amounts of foods are taken each day: 2 servings of meat (1 serving of liver each week); 1 egg; 2 servings of vegetables; 2 servings of fruit.

Kudzu roots or runners on new patches should be put out during the dormant season. Runners cut in about 4-foot lengths for convenience, dropped in furrows, and covered lightly offer a very cheap means of getting started. AUGUST BOUGERS DEAD

Our deceased friend, husband, father and grandfather, Mr. August Bongers, was born in Pommern, Germany, on June 22, 1872. When he was a small child he was baptized in the Lutheran Faith, when he became a child of God. He remained true to his faith unto the end. In the year 1882 when he was a lad of 10 years of age, he together with his kind mother, immigrated to America, his father having died in the old country some time before their departure. On arriving in America they settled in the vicinity of San Antonio, Texas. Here around San Antonio Mr. Bongers spent his entire life, here he attended school and later when he grew up to manhood he was also married. He together with his kind wife spent a long and happy married life. God blessed this union with four children, namely: Mr. Arthur Bongers, Devine, Texas; Mr. Harry Bongers and Mrs. Edna Huegele of San Antonio, Texas. One child died when quite young. Mr. Bongers was a carpenter, tinner, brick-mason, and also a successful farmer. He was a very practical man and knew how to adjust himself in all walks of life. His good neighbors esteemed him very highly. They showed their love and appreciation during his illness and were ever ready to serve and assist him. He was a good husband and a kind father. Mr. Bongers was a faithful member of Zion's Lutheran Church of Castroville, Texas.

He attended divine services regular until some time ago when his health began failing very rapidly and he was no longer able to attend services. His kind family and his beloved Dr. Williamson Jr. did everything possible to restore his health, but God had willed it otherwise and he was called home on Good Friday, April 11, 1941, at 7:20 P. M. He leaves to mourn his death his beloved wife, Mrs. Minnie Bongers; the above mentioned 3 living children; one sister, Mrs. August Schroeder; 3 grand-children, Mrs. Buster Hardcastle, Miss Lucille Bongers and little Calvin Bongers. He also leaves one son-in-law, Mr. Arthur Huegele, and 2 daughters-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Bangers and Mrs. Harry Bongers, and many other relatives and friends. He reached the age of 68 years 9 months and 20 days.

Funeral services were held on Monday, April 14, 1941, at the Riebe's Funeral Home, beginning at 2 P. M. and interment was made in St. John's Cemetery, San Antonio, Texas, Rev. A. H. Falkenberg of Castroville, officiating. May he rest in peace.

Active pallbearers at Mr. August Bonger's funeral were: Tom Mansfield, Kennon Talley, Emil Schroeder, Herman Schroeder, Lee Pargmann, and Arthur Erksen.

Honorary pallbearers were: Curg Talley, Louis Kriewald, Sr., A. L. Kriewald, John Grossenbacher, A. C. Wurzbach, Otto Koenig, G. W. Huegele, Louis Lieck, Alvin Becker, Bruno Becker, and Alfred Mangold.

OWLS WIN TWO DOUBLE-HEADERS

Last Friday and Saturday, the Hondo Owls went down to Gonzales and Shiner where they underwent the man-sized job of playing two double headers in two consecutive days.

The Owls came out victorious in all four games and we should be very proud of them. In the first, Hartung hurled a one-hit game, while Embrey robbed Newberg of a home run by making a swell catch.

The last game was called after two innings because of rain, at which time the Owls were leading by the score of 9 to 0.

Following are the box scores for all four games, as they were played.

High School Play Tonight

The senior class play is to be presented April 18th, at the high school auditorium. Dress rehearsals are being held this week. The play, "Mother-In-Law Blues", is a comedy, and is written by Kenneth Creel, the young playwright who has written such farces as "Charlie's Aunt" which was one of the most successful plays ever to be given by amateur groups. The play is sponsored by Samuel French.

There are twelve characters. Honey Dillon (Novelle Lambert) is a lovely young bride and Woody Dillon (James Weynand) is her adoring but troubled husband. Angel (Asell Mumme) is the colored maid who is caught in the middle of the whirlwind.

Mrs. Taatha Squib is JUST the mother-in-law, but she plays a more important role in the rush of events than most of the mothers-in-law the young men of today usually can conceive of. Norma Jane Bless has the role of the mother-in-law.

Harvey Mortimer (Herbert Bulgerin) is the wealthy manufacturer. Lucky Mills (Charles Richter) is a friend of Woody's and thinks a bit too much of himself. Orson Tuttle (Bobby Kollman) is the cast-off boy friend and fiance of Honey's Sylvia. Arthur is Honey's closest girl friend, and is played by Mary Lee Oefinger. Rita Harvard, an air-line stewardess, (Eloise Kollman) is the cause of all the jealousy Honey is guilty of. Hester Cummings (Ina Jean Crow)
